

Local Energy for Change

Helping households save energy and money in Kingborough and Brighton

An exciting new Sustainable Living Tasmania project is taking place in the Kingborough and Brighton communities to help householders save energy and money in their homes. As part of this, four workshops are being held in each municipality over the next few weeks to promote the free home energy assessments and rebates for insulation, curtains and draught-proofing. 200 free home energy assessments will be undertaken in the Brighton and Kingborough municipalities over the next two months to help people top up their insulation, install good curtains or blinds and draught-proof their homes.

Householders may be eligible for up to $300 to top up or complete their ceiling insulation or $250 to properly insulate their windows. There are also smaller rebates available for draught-proofing homes.

Householders need to register their interest as soon as possible as the project has limited rebate funds to provide to the community. Priority will be given to people who go to a workshop.

To find out how you can get a free home energy assessment and access rebates, you can go along to one of the following workshops:
