

29/10/2009

In my heart was the dream to become all I could be. But it is my belief that in life we thrive as a body of people not as one solitary man or woman a bit like the theory of the tree being a whole tree only because of all its branches.

All of us have abilities but no one of us has every attribute needed to be complete. It is respecting that all people have abilities that we can achieve more. SOCRATES said, "We need enough intelligence to do what we are put on this earth for".

Some times finding what we are meant to do, can be the tricky bit. That is where support and encouragement can be an immensely important thing.

I belong to Eureka Clubhouse in Moonah Hobart which supports people who have or had Mental Illness. I would relate my tree or branches theory to my membership of Eureka because I have grown as a person, trained as a teachers aide, and also represent Eureka Clubhouse on the board of the Mental Health Council. It is my belief that if I can make a difference then that becomes my motivator and indeed my purpose.

Always thank you to Eureka Clubhouse. Clubhouse I am glad that I have found you. I am a better person for that.

Meg King